

Let's Remember

There are four seasons:

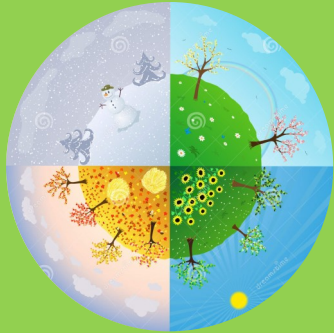

Autumn

Winter

Spring

Summer

When the weather changes, you need to wear different clothes to suit the conditions.

We live in England which is part of a group of islands called the United Kingdom.

Our Big Question

Why can't we go skiing in Fernhurst?

I Need to Know...

- The weather patterns are different in each season.
- The Weather Forecast uses different symbols to tell us what weather we are likely to experience that day.
- That a thermometer is used to measure temperature.
- How the temperature and weather conditions compare between Fernhurst, Cardiff, Edinburgh and Belfast.
- England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland are part of the United Kingdom.
- A capital city is the main city of a country and is usually where the Government is located. London is the capital city of England and the United Kingdom as whole. Edinburgh is the capital city of Scotland. Cardiff is the capital city of Wales. Belfast is the capital city of Northern Ireland.
- There are three main seas which surround the United Kingdom: The North Sea, The Irish Sea and English Channel

Let's Explore

Can you keep a record of the weather conditions and temperature at your home each day? How does it change?

Could you watch the weather forecast and see if you can work out what the weather will be like in Fernhurst?

With these skills you could be a...

Meteorologist

Meteorologists collect and study data from the atmosphere and oceans to make weather forecasts and carry out research.